

ENT

GREETINGS!

Hello Hobbits,

Welcome to the tree-mendous Forest of Fangorn, your home at Jamboree. You have entered a world of giants, many years old and full of wisdom. Your trek from Bree to Ent will venture up a winding trail – be sure to keep your packs light so you can make the trip easily. Ent is the largest of the Sub Camps of PJ. Tread carefully among us and keep a watchful eye for the creatures of our forest. The waters of our Sub Camp border our home and provide some obstacles for the wildlife. These waters are precious, do not cross them unless you are traveling on the roadways built to protect our shores.

Your individual site may or may not have tree-folk on it. We will provide you with shelter and safe lodging during your stay. If you are ever feeling “lost” for home, feel free to hug a tree or come visit the Ent-rance Headquarters for some friendly faces – the Ent Subcamp Team will always have someone available to listen and help.

Please do not count on cell phones to keep in touch with your family back home – the Forests of

We are looking forward to seeing you and sharing our forest with you.

Ralph Tucker,
Sub Camp Chief
Ent Subcamp

Fangorn may be protecting the land so closely that messages cannot escape, and we will have only enough resources to give power to a few phones at a time, mostly for Hobbit Leaders. Please leave your emergency contact information with your Tree Folk hosts. And do not bring special treasures with you – sometimes evil spirits can sneak into the Forests and try to steal precious from others.

Your Sub Camp Team of Ent comes from the British Columbia Interior. They have worked hard to provide you with the most enjoyable Scouting experience and will be available throughout Jamboree to Ent-sure you have a Tree-rrific experience.